OUTPUT TAKES
IN INDUSTRIESTRUMAN CHECKS UP
MONDAY ON WORLD
FOOD PICTURE

By J. W. DAVIS

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—CIO-AFL appeals for maximum production to help cut living costs at home and relieve suffering abroad coincided today with a government report that industrial production has taken a turn upward.

At the same time a farm leader, Albert Coss, master of the National Grange, admonished that "labor has got to be patient in its demands" in the face of export needs.

All fitted into the shaping up of a world picture which President Truman will view with congressional leaders on Monday and with his citizens' "waste less" food committee on Wednesday.

Decision Due Monday

Whether to call a special session of Congress or look to the U. S. Export-Import Bank, or elsewhere, to meet immediate needs of Western Europe may be virtually decided at the Monday White House meeting.

The CIO full employment committee submitted a statement to the president's council of economic advisers. It said that employment, production, sales, shipments and rate of new orders are all on the decline.

It asked Mr. Truman to call industrial leaders together to deal with profits and soaring prices and urged a special session of Congress to develop price and rationing controls.

President William Green told reporters after a White House call that "full production is the remedy for high prices."

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board reported that in August industrial production gained five points to stand at 182 percent of prewar 1934-39. This was the first gain after four straight months of decline.

Grange Master Goss, also a White House caller, said that it is also important that farmers curb the feeding of grain to livestock "to the limit" to help meet foreign needs for food. He suggested another valuable step would be to restrict the use of grain for liquor.

Hunger Aids Communism

Goss is a member of the Citizens Food Committee announced by Mr. Truman yesterday. He told reporters that if the voluntary program does not work, "we might have to have some congressional prodding." He said that if hunger spreads in Europe "there will be a very great spread of Communism."

As for the Monday White House-Congress meeting, a new development was the addition of the name of Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.) to the list of those invited.

Wolcott is chairman of the House Banking Committee which handled legislation in the last congressional session extending the Export-Import Bank. There has been increasing talk that the administration, if Congress consents, might turn to this bank with its $800,000,000 available funds, to find stop-gap means of aid.

In late months, the Export-Import Bank has confined its work to trade loans, however.

NARCOTIC DRUG
TRAFFIC BAREDAuthor Fitzhugh Green
And Wife Indicted
With Detective

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 26 (AP)—The daughter of a famous pioneer automobile manufacturer, her husband, a retired naval commander who served in two wars, and a private detective have been indicted here on charges, respectively, of buying and selling narcotic drugs.

Charged in federal court with illegally buying drugs were Commander and Mrs. Fitzhugh Green of New Canaan. She was identified by U. S. Attorney Adrian W. Mather as the daughter of the late William C. Durant, noted automobile manufacturer.

Green, himself, a graduate of Annapolis, a polar explorer, and author, served in both wars in the intelligence service. He leaned in court on a cane as a result of a back injury sustained during the battle of Guadalcanal.

Mrs. Green, now in a private hospital in Hartford, will be arraigned, said Mather, when her condition permits.

Although the specific sale involved in the indictment occurred on June 21, narcotic agents said the Greens had been buying drugs for several years and that the total involved in the transactions probably totaled close to $75,000. Green, who is 59, pleaded innocent today and was released on $2,500 bond pending a hearing on October 27.

Arraigned with Green and pleading guilty to a charge of sale was Clemens Deisler, 59, of New York City, employed by a famous detective agency.

Minister Angered
As Church Is Sold
To House Two Bars

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Rev. Benney Benson, reformed church minister, today stood on an improvised platform in an empty old Brooklyn church, threw a bottle of ink at a picture of the devil and "deconsecrated" the church.

In the minister's own words, he was outraged. He held the ceremony to "highlight the war between the divine and the worldly." Henceforth, he said, the building would be "branded as secular."

The cause of Benson's wrath: the social club that bought the 40-year-old church building, later let it be known they intended to install two bars in it.

St. Luke's reformed church was bought by the Van Dam Athletic Club after its congregation dwindled to a score of parishioners, who decided to consolidate with the congregation of the Greenpoint Reformed church.

Plant Demolished
By Nitroalucrine
At Mannford, Okla.

Mannford, Okla., Sept. 26 (AP)—An explosion of 600 quarts of nitroalucrine solution blew one building to bits and wrecked two others here today second after two workers fled to safety.

Howard Angel, plant manager for the Independent Eastern Torpedo Co., and Billy Adits, the only man on duty at the explosives manufacturing plant, ran when the solution they were processing caught fire. They topped the crest of a hill about 100 yards distant before the blast came.

Force of the explosion broke windows and damaged plastering in dwellings over a wide area, and was felt at Keystone, eight miles away.

William McFarland, division manager, estimated the plant loss at $15,000.

Billion-Dollar GOP
Welfare Program
Outlined For 1946

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

Gearhart, Ore., Sept. 26 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) tonight outlined a billion-dollar-a-year program of welfare legislation upon which he said the Republican party "will and should proceed" at the next session of Congress.

He added, however, that such a program must be free of federal bureaucratic controls and administered at state and local levels on the clearly defined basis of federal "assistance and not regulation."

Taft moved into Oregon today after delivering a major talk in Tacoma, Wash., last night on international policy, in which he placed himself in the bipartisan camp of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the Republican party's elder statesman on foreign affairs. At Tacoma, Taft charged the administration with making a "mess" of American foreign policy, and offered a seven-point set of principles for Republican policy-shapers.

Turning to the subject of welfare legislation tonight in an address prepared for delivery before the Republican club of Oregon, Taft said his whole program in the field of welfare "in the end may add to the expense of government by a billion dollars a year."

Taft outlined the field of necessary welfare legislation as:

Old age insurance—This, he said, is now "inadequate," and the whole federal system should be reviewed to develop "some plan for coordinating it with supplementary voluntary plans" in private employment. The system should be extended to cover agricultural laborers and domestic servants now omitted.

Unemployment compensation—Continuation of full state control of unemployment payments, but with the states "encouraged to increase the sums now available in view of the permanently higher cost of living."

Work relief—This, he said, should be limited only to emergencies. There should be no re-establishment of a WPA.

Health—Taft flatly rejected plans "smacking of socialized medicine, and condemned the administration Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill for medical and hospital service now before Congress.

Navy Man Is Freed
In Beating Of Yanks
At Jap Prison Camp

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Navy court martial conviction of Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirschberg, charged with mistreating fellow American prisoners in Japanese camps, was set aside today by Federal Judge Clarence G. Galston who said he acted "reluctantly."

Pointing out that Hirschberg was tried after receiving an honorable discharge and reenlisting, the judge ruled the Navy lacked jurisdiction.

But he said his decision was made "reluctantly in the light of the particularly reprehensible conduct of Hirschberg as found by the court martial."

In Washington, the Navy judge advocate's office said it had no immediate comment on the ruling.

Quintuplets Begin
8th Grade Studies
With 9 Teen-Agers

Callander, Ont., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets began their eighth grade studies today in the company of nine other "teen age girls."

The nursery where the quintuplets played as children has been leased to the Roman Catholic sisters of the Assumption, who are in charge of the girls' education. The teaching sisters and Mr. and Mrs. Olive Dionne decided the association with other children of their own age was essential in the development of the quintuplets' personalities. The girls now are 13 years old.

Heretofore Marie, Yvonne, Cecile, Emilie and Annette have played and studied mostly with their eight sisters and brothers.

Gannett For Dewey
Sees GOP Victory

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 26 (AP)—Frank E. Gannett, New York publisher, predicted a Republican victory in 1948 in an interview here today and said he personally will support Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the GOP nomination for president.

He proposed a state-aid plan, estimated to cost about $200,000,000 a year, by which the states could obtain free medical and hospital assistance for "all those unable to pay for it." It also would encourage the formation of voluntary health funds.

Housing—This, as a phase of welfare, Taft declared, should subsidize only the lowest income groups, and "should be confined to approximately 10 per cent of all new construction."

Education—Federal aid for education is essential to assist the poorer states. The entire country, he said, "has an interest in seeing that at least a minimum education is provided for every child born in the United States."

NORWAY VOTED
CHURCH ON SHIPLutheran Council Will Bring Services To Ravaged Villages

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—The executive committee of the National Lutheran Council voted today to supply a boat to bring church services to northern Norway, ravaged by the Germans, and in the same session voted money to build 30 churches in Germany.

The council, which now replaces the American section of the Lutheran World Federation, said this country's federation representative, will spend at least $784,393 in eight European and Asiatic countries for physical and spiritual rehabilitation.

Among the allocations voted today by the committee, headed by Dr. Reese Edgar Tulloss of Springfield, O., president of Wittenberg college there, were:

$167,000 to Norway, including $40,000 to buy a boat which will travel along the northern coast for use as a church by Norwegians whose churches were leveled by the war.

$300,000 dollars to build 30 churches in Germany from the rubble of bombed buildings.

$10,000 for food for Lutheran pastors in the Russian zone of Germany.

$137,000 to support the Finschhafen Mission in New Guinea, formerly a German-financed mission but whose support was cut off by the war.

Salesman Jilted,
Tunes Dictagraph
On Bridal Boudoir

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 26 (AP)—A traveling salesman landed in a mental hospital for observation tonight after police charged, he tuned in—via dictagraph—to the boudoir conversations of a bridal couple.

Karl P. Hartman, 30, of Hazardville, Conn., ordered committed today for 30 days by district Court Judge William J. Grandfield after he tried to plead guilty to a charge of eavesdropping—listening secretly—but the court ordered a plea of innocence entered.

The case was continued to October 3 and bail of $1,000 was set.

Throughout the court proceedings the names of the honeymooners were carefully withheld by the police.

Captain James Sullivan of the police crime bureau, who had obtained the complaint, said alleged eavesdropping occurred over a period of about a week last November, Captain Sullivan said.

His version follows: Hartman and the girl in question formerly worked together in an electric company. He drove her home from work—became infatuated. Then she married another man. They went on their honeymoon. Hartman got into their house, affixed the dictagraph under a bureau and ran wires to his parked automobile. There, he sat in comfort and listened to what they said.

One night, after a week they returned home, the bridal couple heard a commotion on the darkened lawn. Outside they found Hartman. He had tripped over a child's bicycle. He was wearing earphones. The rumpus lead to discovery of the dictagraph.

Hartman promised not to do it again—and didn't.

But, two months ago, he took to telephoning the bride at all hours of the day and night. The young wife was going frantic.

Finally, the couple appealed to the police for relief.

Although Sullivan remained non-committal, other police quoted Hartman as saying he didn't hear very much, anyway. The honeymooners kept their radio going too high.

ENGLAND WILL
QUIT PALESTINEMandate Over Holy Land
May Be Ended; Troops
Ready To Leave

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, Sept. 26 (AP)—Britain declared today she is willing to end her Palestine mandate rule. The British at the same time envisioned an early withdrawal of their forces from the strife-torn Holy Land unless the United Nations assembly finds a solution acceptable to Jews and Arabs alike.

The only condition on which they would remain in Palestine, the British said, would be under U. N. authority—and only then if Jews and Arabs agreed.

Reaction came quickly. Informed sources indicated the Jewish agency for Palestine was displeased; the Arab delegates in the assembly showed some satisfaction but reserved specific comment.

Ballpoint Pen Firm
Not For Sale Now,
Reynolds Announces

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—Milton Reynolds said today he had withdrawn an offer to sell his Ballpoint Pen company, declaring the offer had been "misinterpreted."

Before boarding a plane for a weekend business trip to Paris, the Reynolds Pen company board chairman, in a statement, said it had been his "desire to merge with a company manufacturing items which could be jointly marketed" with Reynolds pens.

Franklin Lamb, Reynolds president, told a reporter this offer had been falsely interpreted, in some quarters, as a "plan to liquidate." Lamb said that "to reassure more than 100,000 Reynolds pen dealers," the statement was issued in which Reynolds declared he was "officially withdrawing the offer to sell the Reynolds Pen company."

Wholesale butter gained 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents in New York and was unchanged to 1/2 cents higher in Chicago.

SOVIET PUPPETS
TO RULE KOREAPropaganda Prepared To Get American Troops
Out Of Country

By TOM LAMBERT

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Russians suddenly proposed today that they and the Americans simultaneously withdraw their military forces from Korea at the beginning of the year and leave the Koreans to form their own government, since the two occupying powers have been unable to agree on a unified regime.

U. S. authorities had no immediate official comment, but some highly placed Americans quickly speculated that the Russian maneuver was designed to keep the Korean issue from coming before the United Nations and might also signify that the Soviets now regarded their North Korean puppets as ready to try to install a Communist government for the whole country.

In Washington American diplomatic authorities view the Soviet withdrawal proposal as a propaganda attempt to influence the issue before the U. N.

Secretary Marshall submitted the case to the U. N. Assembly recently after the American-Soviet joint commission on Korea was unable in nearly two years of discussions to agree even on how to go about arranging a unified Korean government.

The employees had the choice of the pension plan plus a seven cent an hour wage boost or the wage "package" equivalent to 15 cents an hour.

Union leaders made little effort to conceal their disappointment at the defeat of the first large-scale pension plan within the industry but insisted that such a program "shall continue to have top priority in any future negotiations" with Ford.

Vice President Richard T. Leonard of the UAW-CIO estimated that the wage increase boosted the average per hour for Ford workers to $1.52, which he termed seven cents above the industry average.

The scene was a community house. Municipal primary is ten days away, and the oratory was heated.

The audience? Two women.

SOVIETS WAIT
FOR REPLY ON WAR-MONGERSTRUMAN'S POLICIES
LEAD TO CONFLICT,
VISHINSKY SAYS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Lake Success, Sept. 26 (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky today drove closer to President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall with his "warmonger" campaign against many other American leaders, newspapers and institutions.

At the same time he took note of reports that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had been put up by Secretary of State Marshall to challenge the Vishinsky assertions when he seeks committee action on them in the United Nations.

The Russian told a news conference he had heard "they are getting ready another member of the American delegation" to reply to him, and he added, grinning, "we shall wait and see."

Hitler In America

At the 2 1/2-hour news conference, which he himself called, Vishinsky both renewed and expanded his accusations of a vast atomic war plot in this country aimed at Russia.

Twice he sidestepped opportunities to disavow a Russian press contention that President Truman is after the "hazards of Hitler" and he let the impression stand among several hundred reporters that he did not, in fact, disapprove.

Of one of his favorite targets, Vishinsky said U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles—a Republican leader—"instigates such a policy toward the USSR which cannot but lead to war." At another point Vishinsky said he considered that Dulles to "a great extent influences the foreign policy of the United States."

The Russian then demanded that all such "instigators" be "en-chained" in prison as criminals.

Winchell on List

Vishinsky called today's news conference which was held in the Security Council chamber of the United Nations headquarters. An estimated 500 reporters (by U. N. officials reckoning), plus a scattering of curious from many delegations, awaited him when he showed up 10 minutes late and took his place.

He took the lead from the first, starting off with a 10-page statement. This again denounced Dulles, but in more detail than in his speech before the assembly last week. It also criticized American Delegate Warren Austin and British Chief Delegate Hector MacNeill on the ground they had failed miserably to meet Vishinsky's "warmongering" charges with facts.

Then the statement, which Vishinsky read and had translated paragraph by paragraph, added several new names his list of alleged "warmongers" putting forward Ambassador William C. Bullitt, Newspaper Publisher Frank Gannett and Radio Commentator Columnist Walter Winchell alongside Dulles and others in his original list of nine.

Lake Success, Sept. 26 (AP)—Responding to President Truman's plan for food conservation, United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie today ordered meatless Tuesday and Fridays in the U. N. cafeterias and restaurants.

Lie also instructed that only one slice of bread and one pat of butter be served with any one meal.

Four other persons were less seriously hurt in the accident which involved two automobiles.

A car driven by Clara Brouseau, Cornell, traveling north on South Tenth street collided with an automobile driven by Anne Rolfe, 605 Ogden avenue, which was traveling west on Sixth avenue.

In the car with Miss Rolfe were her mother, Mrs. Helen Rolfe, Janet Oberg, Dolores Groos, Ann Shepeck and Barbara Welch. Gordon Mecheau was a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Brouseau. OLD RAILWAY IS RECALLED

Erie And Kalamazoo Rd. Idle But Pays Dividends

Ann Arbor—One of the world's most unusual railroads is mentioned in a bronze tablet imbedded in a boulder on the Adrian courthouse grounds.

The railroad earns $30,000 yearly, in spite of the fact that it has neither carried freight nor collected a fare in 98 years.

Called the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad, it stretches between Toledo and Adrian. It was chartered April 22, 1833, essentially to release to the inland waterways of the United States and thence to the world the produce of the farmlands in the Adrian region.

The line has been unique from its beginning. For according to the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan, the financing, construction and operation of the railroad attracted considerable attention, even in Europe.

The first horse-drawn train trundled its way over the 33 mile route on Nov. 2, 1836. Travelers on this the first railroad west of Schenectady, N. Y., were charged $1.50 one way. The train ran on no definite schedule the first few months, then operated once a day each way.

Its first coach had three compartments, with the center one raised to provide a baggage space underneath. The conductor walked on a small rail outside the coach. Freight and passengers were carried on the same train, although not in the same cars.

In 1837 the railroad acquired a locomotive. With its original wooden track altered to bear the weight of the steam engine, the railroad operated until Aug. 9, 1849, when it was leased to the Michigan Southern Railroad. Later the Michigan Southern became part of the New York Central.

The $30,000 the Erie and Kalamazoo earns yearly is the annual payment on the perpetual lease. Each year the stockholders meet in Adrian to receive the check, and, after taxes and expenses are deducted, a dividend is declared.

The railroad in its early days also had the right to issue banknotes. From 1850 to 1860, its notes were in general circulation in Michigan. There are some Erie and Kalamazoo banknotes and a bank ledger in the Michigan Historical Collections.

Sigler To Broadcast Message Thursday

Great Lakes Movement Ahead Of 1946 Schedule

Cleveland, O.—The rising tonnage of iron ore and coal moved down the lakes last month exceeded shipments of these commodities during the same month in 1945 and raised the total for this season to Sept. 1 well above last year's deliveries for the comparable period, according to figures released today by the Lake Carriers' Association.

By comparison with the movement to September in the last war year, 1945, the totals for coal and ore this season are almost equal, it was pointed out by Lake Carriers' Vice President Gerald S. Wellman.

STATE TO PAY FOX BOUNTIES

Township Clerks Will Receive Applications
Starting Oct. 11

Effective Oct. 11 in Michigan wild red fox will be received for bounty by township clerks and the applicant will receive from the state a $5 bounty payment. Fifty cents must be paid the township clerk as a fee, leaving $4.50 to the taxpayer.

The skinned pelt of the fox must be presented to the township clerk in the township in which the fox was taken. The legislature adopted the fox bounty law in response to requests for payment of a bounty to curb the reported increase in the state's wild fox population.

Conservation officers are not empowered to accept fox for bounty. They must be presented to the township clerk.

Other predators brought in for bounty are to be taken to the conservation department district headquarters as before. It is necessary Oct. 1, however, that the entire pelt and skinned carcass of wolves, coyotes and bobcats be presented in making application for bounty payment. Pelts must be thoroughly fleshed and dried and may be presented with either the skin or the fur side turned out.

This year from January through August a total of 1 wolf, 248 coyotes and 38 bobcats have been bountied in Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger counties, which comprises the local conservation district. In August of this year alone there were 97 coyotes and 7 bobcats bountied, and the September figure is expected to double that of August.

Last year for the January through August period 1 wolf, 175 coyotes and 84 bobcats were bountied in the district.

ROOM FOR EXPANSION—Although Escanaba is growing rapidly and an industrial and home building boom is under way, there is still plenty of room for expansion within the city limits, it is revealed in this recent aerial photograph of the city. This view was taken from the west, looking eastward over the city toward the bay. To the left is Ludington street, and in the foreground is 23rd street (or M-35). South of Ludington and both east and west of 23rd street there is a large area still remaining for residential development. The photograph was taken at a height of 2,000 feet.

'PUSH-BUTTON' FLIES OCEAN

How Pilotless Airplane
Crossed Atlantic
Is Explained

Washington, (SS)—The pilotless Airforce plane which crossed the Atlantic without human hands touching the controls used "push-button" flying.

Pushing a button sends the big, four-engine plane off down the runway on its takeoff. After that the electronic brain of the Airforce automatic flight controller guides the plane to its destination and lands it automatically.

The plane which crossed the Atlantic, is the only "push-button" plane the Airforce have. It is the same plane which flew completely automatically from Long Beach, Calif., to its home base at Wilmington, Ohio, last June.

Here is the way the world's first push-button airplane crossed the Atlantic.

The plane was taxied out onto a selected runway heading at Stephensville, Newfoundland. The brakes were locked and the engine idle. Then a button was pushed. The flight controller, an electronic pilot, took over.

When the button was pushed the flight controller automatically moved up the throttle. After eight seconds, the brake was released. Down the runway roared the historic C-54 "Skymaster". It soared into the air, gradually gaining altitude.

At 800 feet altitude, a pressure device moved the throttle back, the wheels were retracted and the flaps raised, all automatically. The plane climbed to cruise altitude and its radio compass picked up a beam to guide the pilotless ship.

Electronic controls nosed the plane around to the radio beam, and the craft headed out over the Atlantic. Two ships in the Atlantic sent out radio signals which were picked up by the radio compass on the plane.

A third radio transmitter on a truck at the end of a runway at the airport at Brise Norton, England, west of London, sent out signals which guided the plane to an automatic landing at the English airport. The ships on the Atlantic used regular transmitting equipment. The truck at Brise Norton was the only extra ground equipment needed to complete the trans-Atlantic flight after the plane left Newfoundland.

Fourteen passengers, nine of them listed as crew members, made the flight. But no human hand touched the controls after the button was pushed in Newfoundland.

The first push-button plane was developed early in 1946 by the Army Air Forces all-weather flying division of the Air Technical Service Command. Now, under the new Airforce, the C-54 is based at the all-weather flying center of the Air Material Command at Wilmington, Ohio.

Planned as an answer to the challenge of all-weather flying, the automatic plane is also a potential missile, flying a pre-determined course guided by radio compass signals.

Push-button flying with the automatic flight controller is an advance over the drone planes of World War II. These drones were guided by a mother plane. No other plane is needed to fly with the automatic flight controller.

The population of New Zealand, 1,641,000 is just about equal that of Detroit, Mich.

RUARK HATES PARIS STYLES

Threatens To Kill His
Spouse If She Buys
Hideous Dress

Paris—They say it takes at least a year for Paris high-style to catch on with the peasants in the United States, and for that I am grateful. It means I have at least 12 months to organize an underground whose sole aim will be to sabotage of Paris high-style.

Mama has been lugging me around to the salons to see the ugly dresses which will enhance the ugliness of an ugly purchaser, and I must say that the designers have succeeded far beyond their dreams. The readers of Vogue may babble over this new Parisian mode but I will personally take a baseball bat and beat my old lady to death with it if she ever lugs a sample home from the shops.

The Parisian skirt comes, today, in two categories. It is either so long and so tight around the ankles that its wearer couldn't outrun a love-smitten relic of the Grand Army of the Republic. Or else it is so wide and long that madame appears to be standing hipdeep in a haystack.

These things are bunched up in front, below the beltline, so that Milady seems to be in the act of shoplifting a watermelon. And the coats that go with these things are so voluminous that the models look as if they've got their heads stuck out of a freshly collapsed tent.

A new posture goes with these clothes, darling. To wear them correctly, you must have a tubercular hunch to your shoulders, and the derriere is carried in such a manner to suggest the constant expectation of a kick in the pants.

The overall picture is of a lady who is undecided whether to die.

in the next 20 minutes, of TB, or smother to death in her topcoat.

All my life I have been hearing about lovely Parisian models, and I wish to state that anything you've heard is a myth. A homelier bunch of crows I never saw, and if you ever blew one to a full meal she'd stick out like a boa constrictor with a gullet full of antelope. They keep them scrawny, I am told, to focus attention on the clothes, rather than on the girlish bumps, but I think they overdo it. Clothes are, after all, supposed to be worn by women, not beanpoles, and I think it is silly to sew a lot of pads into the hipline when you could achieve the same effect by inserting a well-fed female critter into the frock.

Hairstyles, my dears, are going to complement the general scarecrow structure of 1948's modish maiden. Take all the hair you've got, and haul it off one side of your head. Then twist the bun around so that it obscures the other side of your face, and you've got it.

This makes you look as if you've been scalped on one side, and have an abnormal growth on the other, but it's high fashion. And it allows you to wear a hat on the raw side—a hat which starts at the part and wriggles down to the collarbone. The general effect is that of a lady who has just lost a pitched battle with mudpies, and is still wearing most of the spent ammunition on her face.

I cannot tell you what the Parisienne is wearing under these drygoods, because Mama does not allow me to attend showings of that nature. But I would guess not much, judging from the gossip around the saloons. It wouldn't be necessary, since the lady is completely wrapped, mummywise, from neck to ankle.

I wish to make a belated apology for a rough piece I wrote about our dames a couple of years ago, when I came home from the wars. I thought they looked peculiar then, but at the time I did not know how peculiar a woman can look when the fashion folk really concentrate on making her the butt of their joke.

Now I know. If what I have seen in Paris becomes the fashion back home, I am going off to Little America to live with the penguins. They are, at least, neat.

Press Converts to PM

THE Sunday, Sept. 28 issue of the Escanaba Daily Press will be the final edition of the Daily Press as a morning newspaper and Monday, Sept. 29, the Press will be delivered to subscribers' homes as an evening newspaper. Henceforth deliveries will be made in the evening, daily except Sunday.

The decision to convert to evening delivery was made after very careful consideration of all factors involved and following a study of the merits and demerits of both morning and evening newspapers over a period of several years. As it happens, the Escanaba Daily Press is the last of the Upper Peninsula newspapers that formerly published morning editions to convert to an evening edition.

There are approximately 1500 evening daily newspapers in the United States and only slightly more than 300 morning newspapers. The evening papers are particularly predominant in the smaller communities because the PM papers provide the means for closer coordination between the various departments comprising a modern daily newspaper.

In converting from morning to evening delivery, the Escanaba Daily Press will in no way jeopardize its unwavering determination to provide its readers with the best newspaper possible. On the contrary, we believe that the conversion will strengthen our ability to accomplish that objective.

We are cognizant of the fact that a habit of reading a morning newspaper created in the 36 years during which the Escanaba Daily Press was published for morning delivery will complicate the conversion to PM delivery. On the other hand, we believe that you will like the new arrangement as your paper will be delivered to you when you have the most leisure time at your disposal and when you can read your newspaper unhurried by the press of business or household tasks.

Food Conservation

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S appeal to the American people for food conservation should reach a responsive chord. Food waste in this country is tremendous, but it is a waste that is appalling at a time when so many people in other lands are threatened with starvation.

It has been estimated that approximately 25 per cent of the food bought by the American people is wasted, tossed out with the garbage. This high percentage of waste may be reduced now because of high prices and increased living costs, but it is nonetheless true that the American people can materially conserve food supplies. It will help in reducing prices in this country as well as make additional supplies available for export to other countries where food shortages are becoming more critical.

Information obtained by the president's food committee reveals that the world food shortage as we approach another winter is even worse than a year ago, when emergency measures were taken in this country to get more wheat and grains available for shipment abroad.

The president has indicated confidence in the willingness of the American people to cooperate wholeheartedly in a food conservation program in view of the extreme urgency of the situation. We believe the president is justified in that confidence because American history is filled with evidences of American sacrifices on behalf of mankind of all races in times of need.

Even our bitterness engendered by examples of cruel-hearted selfishness in other countries, such as Argentina's withholding of its wheat surplus for a $6 bushel price, will not deter us from making our full contribution to the starvation areas of Europe.

New Press Feature

THE Daily Press has contracted for a new syndicated feature column, which will be written five times per week by Robert C. Ruark of the Scripps-Howard newspaper staff.

Bob Ruark has been touring Europe the last several weeks, and some of his dispatches from Paris have appeared in the Press during the past week. He will be returning next week to America, where he will depict the domestic scene until he hops off again for some foreign land.

The Press is pleased to have been able to present the incomparable stories by Ernie Pyle until he met his unfortunate death while covering the activities of the GI Joes in the Pacific war theater. It now offers Bob Ruark as a worthy substitute, although it realizes that no one will ever be able to duplicate Ernie Pyle's style of writing.

While emulating Pyle's globe-trotting, Bob Ruark has attracted national attention with some of his episodes. It was Ruark who started the big fuss over Gen-that brought about some straightening out Lee in Italy with a series of articles out of the mess over there.

The Press heartily recommends the new Ruark column to its readers.

Honesty in Business

A DETROIT woman with a long record of conscientious and honest service with the American Express company has been arrested for embezzling a huge sum of money from her employer, perhaps as much as $200,000. The woman has admitted stealing the money and turning it over to her husband.

Stories like this challenge our inherent faith in the integrity of mankind, but it is so only because we fail to remember that embezzlement is the exception rather than the rule among people entrusted with great financial responsibility.

The story of the Detroit woman who is accused of stealing between $107,000 to $200,000 from her employer makes front page newspaper copy because incidents like this are not common. In every community there are many people who possess similar responsibility and who fulfill their obligations completely and honestly.

This is as it should be, but the simple truth is that honesty is taken for granted. It seldom gets headlines or even a paragraph or two in our newspapers because honesty is not unusual. It is dishonesty that is the exception and consequently it is the story of the dishonest individual that hits the front pages of the nation's newspapers.

We need not lose faith in mankind by reading the story of the occasional individual who loses character. We need only to remember that for every such act of dishonesty, there are thousands, even hundreds of thousands of acts of honest performance of duty daily, acts so commonplace that we accept them without fully realizing that American business is accomplished to a considerable extent by assuming the inherent honesty of the American people.

WHAT ABOUT A CITY MANAGER? (Alamosa, Colo., News)

Two things have occurred in Alamosa in the past several months that points the reason for a city manager.

The Alamosa Chamber of Commerce has been revitalized and W. B. Foshy named as secretary. He is drawing a salary commensurate to the position and one that would be about the same as that of a city manager.

A group of men have organized the Alamosa Young Men's Christian association and have employed a full time secretary. His salary is also about the same as would be paid to a city manager.

Both of these positions are supported through voluntary contributions. The salary of a city manager would be paid by direct taxes against the property owners of the city.

The city government is a large business. Each year about $100,000 is handled and the governing head of the city is the guiding hand. The mayor gets the wonderful salary of $50 per month. Because of the amount of work that must be done this may pay for car and other expenses, resulting in the work done free of charge.

Wouldn't it be sensible to employ a city manager and have a good business man use business methods in city affairs? We bet he could save enough money by elimination of present wasteful methods to pay his salary.

And this is no reflection on any member of the city council. The thing at fault is the system. The business of a group of men is not the business of any of them and as a result many city problems are neglected.

Other cities have employed city managers and where they employed good ones have found the system to be a great improvement over our present antiquated councilman system. It makes one responsible head of city affairs and one who can devote his entire time to it. Inasmuch as he is paid for his services he will feel that he could take the criticism of the position. Why should any of the present councilmen or mayor do something that may be for the good of the city yet arouses criticism when the easier way would be to drift with the sentiment.

A city election is coming up this fall. It might be the wise thing for the new group to give adequate study to a city manager plan.

Now is the time when mother goes into a jam session—and it means a lot of smeared up little faces.

A Minnesota man fell two stories, set up and asked for a drink. Business of reversing the usual procedure.

It's wise not to talk too much, but it's still okay to say "Another government bond, please!"

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Will you please trace the origin of the word wake, as of a ship?—G. C.

A. This particular word wake is of Scandinavian origin. The word first meant a space of unfrozen water in an otherwise frozen sea; hence, by extension, the track made by a ship sailing through frozen water. Nowadays, wake means the track left by a ship in the water, and, by extension, that which follows after, as the wake of war, the wake of a storm.

Q. Will you please explain what is meant by the Texas "panhandler"—O. C.

A. A panhandler is that sort of a state which is so long and narrow as to resemble a handle, as the handle of a frying pan. Several states have panhandles, notably Texas, Oklahoma, West Virginia,

Athens, Greece—Traveling across Europe today is a curious adventure in the arithmetic of currencies that have lost much of their meaning and value for the people who use them. The franc, the lira, the zloty, the mark, even the good old British pound slither up and down in response to the doubts and fears that beset Europe.

But it is here in this arena where East and West are contending that money becomes a kind of fourth dimension reflecting the slightest change in the political landscape. The Greek Drachma is an amazingly sensitive seismograph for the tremors shaking the earth far below the surface.

The legal rate of exchange at the Bank of Greece is 5,000 Drachmas to the dollar. It is wholly unrealistic in terms of purchasing power. Twice that amount would be a more nearly accurate appraisal of the Drachma's value and there are rumors of a revaluation.

—LIKE PROHIBITION ERA—
Because the legal rate puts such a penalty on visitors who must pay inflated prices, most Americans passing through get at least part of their Drachmas on the black market. It's like prohibition days back home. You are told to go around the corner and ask for Joe.

Joe is an amiable fellow who secretes great chunks of paper money on his person. He is always glad to see you, just as was the bootlegger, because he will make a good profit out of his transaction with you. He gives you, say, 8,000 Drachmas for an American dollar, with the rate a little lower for traveler's checks.

Two days later it is only 7,600 to the dollar. You ask Joe what has happened to bring about the change.

"They think new Sophocles government may be good government," Joe says, grinning.

A week later it is back to 8,000. Joe explains that there is bad news about the Rebels in the north. "They no like it," says Joe of the mysterious powers who are presumed to preside over the economic destinies of Greece.

Joe seemed to me to be the best possible barometer of what was happening. I could never discover how the rate was fixed on his private bourse. But at least he always had a plausible explanation for the rapid shifts that occurred. Once when the Drachma rose a little it was because, Joe reported cheerfully, three American ships were discharging food and clothing in the harbor.

How the ordinary citizen of Athens manages to live is a mystery. The threatened strike recently of civil servants surprised no one familiar with the immense difficulties of day-to-day living. The strike was averted with the aid and advice of the American mission since a strike would have meant further delay for a program that has already suffered from far too many delays. The Greek government added another 100,000,000,000 Drachmas to its budget to cover the increased pay of government employees.

Prices in the shops are based on the value of the gold sovereign. They are out of sight for the average Athenian who can state only wistfully at a quite ordinary dress with the price mark 200,000 Drachmas and at a pair of shoes at 125,000 Drachmas.

—SOVEREIGN WORTH $30—

A gold sovereign is worth about $30 in U. S. currency. But the British, using pounds, can buy sovereigns for about one-third of that. There are other inequities. Members of the U. S. embassy staff have been able to exchange their dollars for 12,000 to 14,000 Drachmas because the embassy has brought in gold to exchange. This was given embassy employees a tremendous advantage over members of the mission staff who have had to take 5,000 or go into the black market for 8,000 or 9,000.

To the visitor who gets a hotel bill of 933,000 Drachmas for a week, it seems pure fantasy. But for the Greeks this is practically normal. Two years ago they went through an inflation that sent the Drachma to a trillion to the dollar. A pair of shoe laces cost two billions.

A realistic revaluation of the Drachma is overdue. It would reduce the black marketing and the speculating which a mass of regulations cannot stop. Another essential step is to pare away the blight of red tape that makes it difficult to observe the law. Changing a few dollars at the Bank of Greece takes an hour and a dozen forms. Joe takes three or four minutes to a transaction. This is the time, while American aid is moving into Greece, to try to get a little more stability into the fluttery Drachma and put Joe out of business.

The term "panhandler," for a street beggar, has a somewhat different origin. It is said to refer to the ancient practice of extending a pan or bowl for alms, which still is the custom in the Orient. In the United States tambourines are employed for the same purpose. I, certain charitable organizations which rely chiefly on small donations as the source of their income.

However, in American usage, the term panhandler is used only to designate an able-bodied man who slides up to one and mutters a request for a dime "for a cuppa coffee," or a quarter for a night's lodging or for a meal.

Q. What is the significance of the letters "INRI" which are shown over Christ's head on crucifixes?—T. M. W.

A. The initials stand for the Latin Iesus Nazarens, Rex Iudaeus (Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews). "And a superscription also was written over him in letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew. THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS."—Luke 23:39.

Interested, Yes, but Only as to His Whole Future Destiny

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

ANY OTHER NAME—The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce this year is sponsor of the Town Hall concert series, an annual institution of long standing dedicated to the entertainment of folks in the Escanaba area. Many communities have attempted and for a time succeeded in supporting a Town Hall program, only to see them fall through lack of interest.

Dunathan. It has been our observation that concert series programs often lack interest for the majority of people because most sponsors are more interested in raising the cultural level of the community than in providing entertainment. In the Town Hall series at Escanaba entertainment comes first. The patrons are assured that they will get their money's worth. If culture and the appreciation of better music creeps in, so much the better. But the first consideration is to entertain the patrons and give them what they want. No one has yet objected to culture that is lively and entertaining. But everyone can recognize boredom, and no one will submit to it willingly.

WHAT YOU GET—Town Hall in Escanaba has starred each season some person or persons famous in the world of music. In past years there was Jean Dickinson, the Don Cossacks, Paul Robeson, Margaret Speaks, Alec Tepleton, Conrad Thibault, the Vienna Boys' Choir, and others. Town Hall audiences liked them. People didn't buy season tickets from a sense of duty, but rather because they knew they would be entertained by some of the best musical talent in America.

This coming season? Well, there will be Thomas L. Thomas, the baritone star of radio and concert stage, familiar to music lovers for his singing heard on the "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round." Another number in the series will be Gold and Fisdale, a couple of young chaps who play the piano with such refined precision that they have been acclaimed both by audiences and critics. The Farman Sinfonietta, conducted by Harry Farman, will bring 20 talented musicians including Edith Schiller, solo pianist, to the local stage in a variety program. The Columbus Boy Choir of 36 voices, known to radio listeners as "America's Singing Boys," will be another featured attraction. Escanaba's own Orpheus Choral Club, this year directed by Sam Ham, is already in rehearsal for its appearance on the Town Hall series.

IT WAS ALL THEIRS—In another Upper Peninsula city some 10 or 15 years ago a determined but unsuccessful effort was made to establish and maintain a concert series. The first season the ticket sales went well. The next season the sales dropped off. The third year brought a mounting deficit that could not be overlooked and the venture folded quietly but completely.

Why? Looking back on it now, we realize that the concert series was doomed to failure from its inception. Those who arranged the program and booked the artists were more interested in raising the cultural level of the community than they were in giving the patrons full entertainment value for their money. The more difficult the composition, the more little known (to the masses) the composer, the more likely was the program committee to pick artists who would give the local audience "a new experience in music." There was the Russian baritone who sang Negro spirituals with an Italian accent and kept frowning at the accompanist, the audience, and the ceiling. An Irish waltz would have had far more vivacity. Another time there was the pianist whose mannerisms seemed more important than her music. She exhibited an amazing capacity for physical exertion and a minimum ability in stage presence. After every number she snubbed the audience by leaving the stage and would return only after they had pounded their hands to a pulp. For our money, it wasn't worth it. The pleasure was all hers.

NO MISTAKE—The sponsors of Town Hall in Escanaba have not made the mistake of placing "culture" first and entertainment second. Artists who will entertain you at Town Hall will give you the music you love by composers who have pleased people of discriminating musical taste the world over.

Some of the music will be familiar—the well-known and well-loved pieces dear to the heart of all Americans. There will be other music less well-known, and perhaps some that you have never heard before. The Town Hall program committee has chosen musicians of top rank to entertain you, knowing that Town Hall cannot afford to risk anything else. The Town Hall series has been a continuing and successful seasonal event for many years and that in itself is proof of its quality and its popularity.

GUIDING HANDS—You may not be aware that Town Hall is an organization of volunteers in the community who receive no remuneration for their time and work in bringing outstanding musical entertainment to Escanaba. Committee members and ticket salesmen receive no pay other than their satisfaction in keeping Town Hall on a round entertainment and financial basis.

The Town Hall committee personnel has changed a number of times but there has been no change in the quality of Town

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, according to Congressman John Rankin of Mississippi, now running like a jack-rabbit for the senate seat of the late Theodore Bilbo.

The potentate of Tupelo has now stood so low as to make political hay of the hurricane and the devastation it brought to his home state.

Sunday, Rankin stayed glued to the radio in his Washington apartment, carefully noting the places damaged by floods and wind.

By noon he had a sizeable list of stricken Mississippi towns. Thereupon he prepared a press release demanding that the President call Congress into special session to aid the storm victims.

Not content with giving this to the press associations, Rankin telegraphed the statement to the key newspapers in Mississippi.

In addition, he wired the mayors of Mississippi towns, telling them of his demand on the White House.

Monday, the ingenious gentleman from Mississippi went even further. He asked for an appointment with President Truman to register his demand for a special session. Truman, however, had just stepped off the boat from Rio, had already scheduled conferences with the cabinet and food committee. So Rankin was informed by phone that Truman had ordered proper government agencies to take appropriate steps to help the flood areas.

All this was grist to Rankin's mill. Although he voted against almost every Truman measure in Congress, John immediately wired Mississippi newspapers, giving the impression that hurricane aid was forthcoming only because he, John Rankin, was on the job in Mississippi's hour of stress.

No wonder Rankin is telling friends that the hurricane will blow him right into the senate.

NOTE—Rootin'-tootin' John now is so confident of filling Bilbo's seat that he thinks he may not even go home to campaign.

—FERGUSON LOVES PUNISHMENT—

Pugnacious Sen. Homer Ferguson doesn't seem to mind asking for punishment. Unrelenting as a bulldog once he sinks his teeth in a senatorial probe, the shaggy-maned Michigan Republican recently proclaimed that he would go through with his original plans for the Howard Hughes hearings in November. Well-wishing friends, remembering how the first probe had backfired, tried to persuade him against it.

"I postponed that hearing until November 17," thundered Homer, "and I will go ahead with it November 17 even if Congress goes into a special session the same day!"

—BRITAIN'S EXIT FROM GERMANY—

The state department is frequently accused of being the tail on the kite of British foreign policy. This was decidedly not the case, however, when the Senate Appropriations committee met in a closed-door session with state and war department officials to consider who will pay British occupation costs in Germany.

It is already known that the British have served notice they will need help in financing their zone in Germany. But what is not known is that the state department presented an array of figures in the secret session showing that the British are better off than generally realized.

Though the British are short of dollars, they are not short of sterling and many German occupation costs can be paid out of sterling. British industries, including coal and utilities, actually are above pre-war production, the state department told senators. Box-car loadings have also surpassed pre-war standards.

It was also revealed that the British employ 18,000 civilians to run their part of Germany, while the United States employs only 5,000.

These figures were one reason for the unanimous opinion of the Senate Appropriations committee that if we have to shoulder part of Britain's occupation costs, we in turn must get a share in fixing British policy.

On this, Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall, who inspired the special committee meeting, emphatically agreed.

"If we pay Britain's bill," he said, "We must insist on a voice in the government of her zone proportionate to our contribution." Only member of the Appropriations committee to express misgiving was Leverett Saltonstall, sincere Senator from Massachusetts. He was worried over the United States being left to face Russia alone in Germany.

Holding an editorial from a Boston newspaper, the emaciated New Englander also asked why Britain should be allowed to pull out of Germany while pouring money into Palestine.

Piano Team Is Highly Praised
By Noted Critic

Arthur Gold and Robert Fisdale, duo-pianists, who will appear on the Town Hall concert program in Escanaba on February 21, were given high praise by Virgil Thomson, renowned American composer and music critic for the New York Herald Tribune on the occasion of their New York Town Hall debut.

"Consistent beauty of tone and sweetness of sound, refined precision of rhythm and grace of phrasing, masterful penetration of the nature of the music, of the differences between one piece and another between one composer's thought and another's, a thoroughly musical approach to music and concert giving," was Mr. Thomson's comment.

In so speaking, Mr. Thomson virtually ushered in a new era of duo-pianistic achievement on the American concert stage. It has not been a very long time, as time is reckoned in the music world, since duo-piano playing was looked on rather askance, as a sort of stunt, a pyrotechnical exhibition, at its best a display of mere virtuosity, at its worst a mathematical feat—the multiplication of pianos.

Various factors have gone into the changing of this state of affairs, which was by no means true of the golden ages of music, when duo-pianism was as highly regarded as any other form of musical expression. The evolution of the piano itself to its present peak of flexibility and power has had an important effect on duo-piano playing, and the pioneer work of piano teams who have been virtuosos in their own right has helped to elevate the art through the years. Experimentation in tonal richness and orchestral quality, rather than emphasis on the identical striking of the keys has revolutionized duo-piano music.

Two-Piano Compositions
Possibly the greatest single factor in the present-day demand for two-piano concerts is the rediscovery of contemporary composers who have written new and beautiful compositions for such teams as Gold and Fisdale.

Season tickets for the concert series are now being sold by the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee in charge, and they may be obtained at any time from Donald Guindon, secretary of the sponsoring organization.

Volunteer Ration
Plan Not Likely To Be Success

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer
Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman has asked the American people to "reduce voluntarily" their consumption of meat. This, he claims, is the best possible way of providing Europe with food.

If there is one thing the war should have taught our leaders it is that enough Americans work on the "me first" basis to make the success of such a noble idea problematical.

What happened during the war years when the nation was told of a scarcity, and asked to go easy on it? Why, so many people ran from store to store, stocking up on the scarce article, that the majority, who heeded the warning, had to do without.

Even under rationing, many housewives bought more food than they needed for their families. Some women will tell you, proudly that they never had such a stock of foodstuff on hand as during rationing.

And they eagerly grabbed the extra ration tickets unmarried friends offered.

The American people may weep tears for the starving of other lands. But too many won't have any part of self-rationing to alleviate the suffering.

There are enough, in this group, to endanger Harriman's humanitarian plan. There are enough to discourage the majority, no matter how self-sacrificing most Americans usually are.

IS DISMISSEDBurdette Switzer Freed;
Makes Restitution
To Owner

A charge of altering and cashing a U. S. government bond placed last August against Burdette Switzer, city, has been dismissed, it was learned yesterday.

Police records of the case reveal that Switzer was arraigned in the court of Henry Ranguette on August 19 on a charge of bond altering and was bound over to circuit court to stand trial. Bond was set at $1,000 in default of which he was held in the county jail awaiting trial until Sept. 18 when, upon the motion of Prosecutor Clyde McGonagle, the charge was dismissed and Switzer released after he had made restitution of the face of the bond, a little over $76 and paid court costs of $5.25.

The bond, which Switzer cashed locally, originally was made out to Otto A. Miller, Nahma, or Robert Miller, Fond du Lac. When cashed by Switzer it bore the name of Burdette Switzer, Gladstone, or Mrs. Irene Wickstrom, Munising.

Disclosure of the alteration came from government offices where the bond was registered.

FARM PRICES
WILL DECLINEBabson Says Farmers Are Not Being Fooled
This Time

By Roger W. Babson
Kansas City, Mo.—During the past 24 hours I have been flying over the great farming area of the Central West. I have not only seen things with my eyes, but also heard things with my ears.

Let me first say that farmers are not being fooled by these high prices. They know that $2.90 for wheat and $2.65 for corn is not going to hold. They remember that, throughout all U. S. history, only during and immediately after wars, have farmers made much money. Moreover, the wise ones are now using their profits to get out of debt, to buy for cash new machinery, and lay up a good bank balance for the future.

They also tell me that although farm prices rise gradually during boom time, yet when prices fall, they collapse all at once. This is because farmers get panic stricken when they see prices begin to fall and all farmers try to dump at once. They admit they are now playing the same game with wheat and corn as investors, in 1929, played with stocks and bonds.

Reasons For High Prices
(1) Exports to Europe. During 1946 more than 15,000,000 tons of food were shipped to Europe. Heavy movements of foodstuffs to Europe will continue due to its poor crop conditions.

(2) Poor U. S. Weather Conditions. The American grain harvest will be 15,000,000 tons under normal, due to spring floods and unsatisfactory growing conditions, with a constantly increasing population.

(3) Wasteful American Eating Habits. Americans have always been the most wasteful people in the world when it comes to food consumption. High consumer in-

YOUR NEWSPAPER—
SERVING FREEDOM BY SERVING YOU

NEWS: The exposure of any form of corruption or inefficiency within its coverage area is, perhaps, the most important public service function of an American newspaper. Springing from the curiosity of editors, the suspicions of reporters or the complaints of readers, the newspaper ferrets out the true facts and presents them to the public. Usually, this formula produces an aroused public opinion which insists on correction of the matter. Be it corrupt city government, the need for more schools or an inadequate and inefficient transit system, presentation of the facts in a newspaper is the first step to remedial action.

come has increased this wastefulness.

(4) Putting So Much Grain Into Liquor. The eight billion dollar liquor business consumes huge quantities of grain for brewing of alcoholic beverages.

Despite starvation abroad, this "non-essential" industry continues uninterrupted in the production of liquor.

(5) Increase In The Currency

From $7,000,000,000 to $27,000,000,000. The tremendous increase in currency since before the war has greatly stimulated the power of the American public to purchase food products.

Waiting For The 1948 Tax Bill

There is good reason to believe that large amounts of grain are held on the farm. This is not just a case where farmers are gambling that prices will continue to rise above present inflated levels. Grain farmers are fully aware that there is an excellent chance that personal income taxes may be reduced in 1948. The farmer asks himself the question:

"Why should I sell my grain now and pay an income tax on the proceeds at the 1947 rate when I can wait until 1948 and take advantage of a new tax law more favorable to the taxpayers?" Certainly with an election year coming up, politicians will look with great favor on some sort of reduction in personal income taxes in 1948.

Food Price Investigations

There is much talk in the newspapers about distributors and processors of food products taking advantage of the present squeeze in food prices and systematically gouging the poor consumer. Quite frankly, I think this is plainly propaganda. The fact is that in most instances the farmers' percentage profit margins today are no greater than normal. What has happened is that, due to a higher dollar volume of business, the normal profit margin produces more dollar profits. Hence, don't blame the farmers.

The real villain in the picture is unprecedented demand for farm products both at home, where consumer income has never been so high, and from Europe where famine conditions are so prevalent. We are eating more and wasting a greater volume of food, per capita, than ever before. Even a very small reduction in our consumption of food would prevent the serious squeeze on food prices which we now face. It is most desirable to be frugal at this time, not only to assist those who are less fortunate, but to help avoid a drastic deflation as a result of further price rises. Food is the most important item in the average family budget. This is the basic answer to the problem of food prices today.

FAST TIME

Dear Daily Press: I don't think it's fair to the people who dislike this fast time, that a group of men in the Escanaba and Gladstone councils be allowed to do as they please about fast time.

The Upper Peninsula should be entitled to vote on this time problem.

Why not open the stores and business offices earlier in the morning and close earlier in the evening for the winter months while we are on Standard Time.

The smaller children who have long distances to school in the winter months of December, January, February and March. One hour earlier in the morning means a big difference for them in the cold weather.

Yours Truly,
Mrs. E. G. Holm.

Judge R.H. Merwin
Advises On Estate
Under Recent Act

Honorable Judge Ralph H. Merwin, recently returned from the State Probate Judges convention in Petoskey, advises all persons owning property jointly to take an inventory of holdings and form of registration as of June 30, 1947, and have such recorded with the county. The advice is relative to the new Michigan Community Act.

Under the new law all property jointly owned by two parties, such as in marriage, becomes community property upon the death of one of the parties. The judge then decides what part thereof shall accrue to the part owner. The remainder is then distributed among the various legal or specified heirs, after all claims are paid.

If the claims exceed the portion withheld by the judge as community property the surviving owner can be forced to surrender a part of the assigned to meet the claims.

Under the old law governing estates one-third was automatically assigned the surviving owner and it could not be touched under any circumstances. The only way for joint owners to have their pro-

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS "It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

As if one-sided defeats at the hands of Gladstone and St. Norbert weren't a big enough headache to carry around, Coaches Clarence Needham and Fritz Farrell will take their St. Joe Trojans into action against Lourdes at Marinette tomorrow afternoon with three lettermen benched because of injuries.

The luckless three are Gerald Tanguay, John Rademacher and Bob Ramepek. Tanguay has a shoulder injury suffered in practice and aggravated at St. Norbert's. Rademacher has a leg blood clot, and Ramepek hurt his back early in the St. Norbert melee.

"The spirit is there, but we just haven't got the manpower," Needham said last night. "Losing these three for this game really hurts. If we could be at full strength, I think we could do something against Lourdes. As it is, we're going to do our best and may have a surprise or two for them."

The Trojans have been working all week on blocking and tackling two of the most glaring weaknesses uncovered against Gladstone and St. Norbert's.

Fred McGuigan, left guard, has been named captain for the Lourdes game. At the other guard will be Forrest List, Bill Bowden and Leo Schaut, the latter still wearing a splint on his broken finger, will start at tackle, and Jack Miron and Kendall Murphy will be ends. Murphy replaces Bill Courneene at right end. Either Ray Menard or Dave Rademacher will get the opening call at center.

St. Joe's starting backfield will see Gerald Harris at quarter, Buddy Lavolette and Gerald Gleich at the halves and Harold Marenger at full. The line averages 170 and the backs about 160, which is fair for high school ball, but plenty of drive and punch are needed to go with that weight to make St. Joe a winning ball club.

The entire squad of 30 will make the jaunt to Marinette by bus, leaving here at 11:15 tomorrow morning, Needham reports. Game time is 3 p. m., Escanaba time.

Incidentally, while on the subject of St. Joe football, we believe we have the final count on the St. Joe-Escanaba series down through the years, supported by aged newspaper clippings and one St. Joe player's scrapbook about the "good old days."

In 1911, St. Joe beat Escanaba, 3-0, thanks to Pete Derouin's field goal via dropkick. Among those who played in that game are John Schile, U. S. mail carrier (St. Joe) and Dr. Ed Hirn (Escanaba high), father of the budding golfers, Ray and Ronny.

St. Joe and Escanaba played scoreless ties in 1930 and 1931 (just like in 1934 remember?), and the game of games for St. Joe fans was the 1932 get-together, when St. Joe WON, 20-6. That was the year the fans kept quiet while St. Joe outfoxed Escanaba on two sleeper pass plays. If there are any further questions about the matter, see Phil Brazeau or Leo Brunelle.

Here Are College Grid Predictions For Today

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Pushing off for another good ride along the collegiate gridiron trail with the first forecast of a season that promises to yield more surprises than a schoolboy's pockets:

Georgia vs. North Carolina—Two Dixie powers picking up where they left off on New Year's Day. The Sugar Bowl decision in reverse, Georgia without Trippi doesn't figure to take North Carolina with Justice.

Rice vs. Louisiana State—Probably one of the best games of the day and certainly one of the closest. Both are conference favorites, Rice in the Southwest and LSU in the Southeastern. LSU won last year, 7-6, and it could be that close again. One shaky vote for the Owls of Rice.

Navy vs. California—By searing the daylight out of Army in last year's windup, Navy set the pattern for a comeback this autumn. Pistol Pete Williams and his Middle mates are loaded for bear, California variety. A cheer for Pappy Waldorf in his new job, but a broadside of votes for Navy.

Villanova vs. Army—Those Wildcats seem to have the stuff to make it close for a change. Earl Black still has a few football players left, however. One confident vote for Army.

Purdue vs. Wisconsin—Purdue should win some games on the passing of Bob De Moss and the inspirational leadership of Stu Holcomb, but not this one. The Badgers can stay out of the Big Nine cellar, Wisconsin.

Alabama vs. Tulane—Red Drew inherited a jewel in Harry Gilmer, whose passing arm may spell the difference in this Southeastern Conference struggle. One grand slam for Alabama.

Texas vs. Georgia—Each team has a new coach and one game under its belt but the Longhorns have Bobby Layne. A clear-cut vote for Texas.

Pittsburgh vs. Illinois—The Rose Bowl champs lost Young, Rykovich and Aase but they won't miss 'em tomorrow. Put it down for Illinois.

Washington State vs. Southern California—If the Trojans can't win this one they can forget their title aspirations. Southern Cal. Michigan vs. Michigan State—The Wolverines with power to burn against Spartans.

North Carolina State vs. Duke—Wallace Wade's Blue Devils haven't forgotten what happened last year. With that in mind, Duke.

Washington at Minnesota—The Huskies have tried this four times and haven't succeeded yet. This Facing a determined band of Norway Vikings stinging from successive one-touchdown defeats at the hands of the powerful Stambaugh and Iron River aggregations—currently leading the U. P. Class B pack—the Escanaba high school Eskymos will try for their third straight victory of the young 1947 grid season here this afternoon. The opening kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

Warned all week long by

Coaches George Ruwithe and Dick Schram that the Vikings are no pushover despite their two defeats to date, the Eskymos will attempt to shake a measure of lethargy that has marked their practice sessions this week, regarded as a grim necessity if they are to chalk up victory No. 3.

The Eskymos opened with a 19-0 triumph over Sauls. Ste. Marie, an admittedly weak eleven this season, and last Saturday they were somewhat more impressive in stopping the Ironwood Red Devils here, 21-6, despite lapse moments when fumbles were frequent and blocking assignments missed.

Some Bright Spots

Despite these lapses, several bright spots were uncovered in the Ironwood triumph that bode no good for the invading Vikings, namely Bob Judson's efficient line plunging while pinching the injured Warren Gustafson and Howard Perron's open field scampering.

Add to this the effective work of Ernie Belanger and Ronald Johnson, and you have a backfield "quintet" that should go places behind a driving line that displayed considerable more aggressiveness against Ironwood than it did against the Soo.

With the exception of 185-pound Ted Gardner, who it is feared tore some ligaments in his ankle injury at the Soo, all Eskymos are in prime shape for today's encounter. Gardner has been suited up for drills this week but has been taking it easy, jogging and conditioning but refraining from contact work.

Backfield Quintet

The Eskymo mentor said he would reserve until game time the decision regarding which four of his backfield "quintet" would start. Judson won his spurs against Ironwood and may get the starting call at fullback. If so, Gustafson will be used at right half, with Belanger at right half and Johnson at quarterback.

If Judson starts in the line at offensive guard and defensive tackle, Gustafson, of course, will take his familiar role at fullback, with Johnson at quarterback and swivel-hipped young Perron at right half.

Norway is considered a team of strong potentiality, capable of exploding and causing trouble. Against a pair of rugged teams like Iron River and Stambaugh, the Vikings haven't had a chance to move into high gear, and Escanaba fans are hopeful they won't get the chance this afternoon.

Although Frank Kopenski, Iron River's brilliant halfback, sparked his team to a 7-0 triumph over Norway last Saturday, it is to the Vikings' credit that they held the Iron River all-U. P. ace to 95 yards in 20 plays, which is practically an afternoon off for Frankie.

Spirit Might Do It

The Vikings' blocking has been weak but it is reported improved, and Coach Allan Ronberg has admitted his line played much better against Iron River than it did against Stambaugh two weeks ago. "Tiger" Devine, a 185-pounder is a mainstay in the Viking line.

And in Bob Devine and Bill Marchetti, the Vikings have a pair of dangerous shift backs. Devine has been referred to as one of the cleverest broken-field runners on the Menominee range, and Marchetti packs a fair share of power.

Hill, Norway quarterback, is a talented performer who does the kicking off and is such a power-

Isn't their year, Minnesota. Tennessee vs. Georgia Tech—They start knocking each other off early in that Southeastern Conference. Out of the hat, Georgia Tech.

Dodger Hurling Is Big (?) Mark

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Though the memory of what the St. Louis Cardinals did to Boston's supermen a year ago still is green, there seems nothing to do but stick with the percentages and pick the favored New York Yankees to down the Brooklyn Dodgers in about six games.

The American league champions, as indicated in previous essays, boast the better outfield, and they have one of the game's greatest players in Joe DiMaggio. Their pitching looks superior to that of the Dodgers, and they will have the advantage of playing the first two world series games in their own big park.

The Dodgers are a good, sound team, full of fight and imbued with a winning spirit that has made them vastly respected in their own league. They have in Jackie Robinson a streak of lightning that might break up a tight game with his base running, and they own the best of the series catchers in Bruce Edwards.

The question mark of the play-offs appears to be the Brooklyn pitching staff. It has been an erratic group all season, with only Ralph Branca, the 21-game winner who will face the Yankees in the opener, showing consistent form. Vic Lombardi, a vest-pocket left-hander, came up brilliantly in the latter stages of the race, and so did Joe Hatten, another southpaw, but neither belongs quite in the top drawer.

Much could depend upon whether Harry Taylor, Brooklyn's rookie right-hander, is able to take a turn. He has the fastest and sharpest curve on the Dodger staff. He has had a bad arm, though, and made his first appearance in five weeks last night, when he worked two scoreless innings against the Phils. Manager Burt Shotton has assigned him to do another stint against Boston on Sunday, and if he passes that test impressively the odds against the Dodgers, now approximately 2 to 1, might shorten.

Most of those who predict the Dodgers will win their first world championship are basing their hope on an intangible—the possibility that Burt Shotton's scrappers will get in there and run the Yankees dizzy, make their own "yarek," and generally take charge by sheer fighting spirit and cussedness.

Braves Tip Giants, Clinch Third Place

Boston, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Boston Braves clinched third place in the National league, one notch higher than they finished last season—by blanking the fourth place New York Giants 2-0 behind the seven-hit hurling of Warren Spahn.

The slim Boston southpaw hung up his 21st victory of the year against 10 defeats. Last year he had an 8-5 record.

A walk, a single and a double by Connie Ryan netted Boston its first run in the fourth. Bob Elliott's double and Phil Masi's single produced the final tally in the sixth.

house on defense that Ronberg moves him up to tackle, where he has been known to get in his share of the same tackles.

All of which adds up to the fact that the Eskymos have a battle on their hands today.

It may be one of those melees in which the team with the best fighting spirit will win.

Detroit Eliminates Tribe From Race For 2nd, 5-2

Cleveland, Sept. 26 (AP)—Art Houtteman's seven-hit hurling and timely hitting by his mates today enabled the Detroit Tigers to down the Cleveland Indians 5 to 2 and assure themselves of at least a third place finish in the American league standings.

The win kept the second place Tigers one game ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who also won. The loss eliminates the Indians from competition for the place position.

Detroit clinched the game in the sixth by driving starter Red Embree from the mound with a three-run uprising.

Tiger second baseman Eddie Mayco collected three singles in five trips and drove in two runs.

Mather Mustangs Meet Negaunee On Home Ground

Munising, Sept. 26.—The Munising Mather high school Mustangs, who have a win, a loss, and a draw in their three games this season, will meet the Negaunee gridders at the city playground today.

The Mather B squad will play the Negaunee reserves at 1:15, and the varsity teams will tangle at 2:30.

Negaunee might well have to expect to win over the Mustangs. A look at the record of the past three games for the Mustangs, team shows they have scored 39 points to their opponents 38, and in each of the games Mather's score was 13. (Mather 13, Negaunee 19; Mather 13, Marquette 6; Mather 13, Gladstone 13).

Cub Fathers Drop Axe On Hack, Passeau, Lee

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—The long-awaited shakeup in the ranks of the Chicago Cubs, currently finishing sixth in the National league race, struck today with the release of three players, including Stanley Mack, Cub third baseman for 16 years.

Other to go were Claude Passeau, 36 year old pitcher, who hurled a one-hit game in the 1945 world's series against Detroit, and big Bill Lee, right handed pitcher who rejoined the team this season as a relief hurler after being cut adrift two years ago.

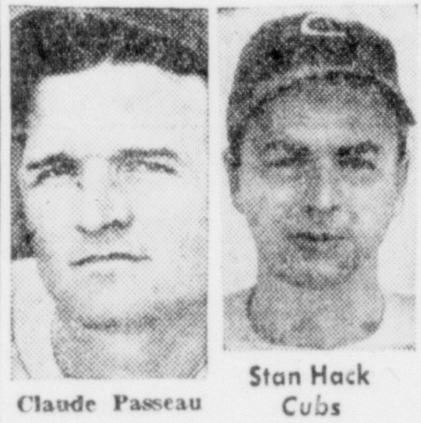

Bill Lee

Billy Jurgens, veteran shortstop, also was released as a player, but immediately re-signed as a coach for 1948.

Thus, it appeared certain that Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, has given Manager Charlie Grimm a free hand in rebuilding the club for 1948.

The Cubs already have brought in several promising rookies for trial, among them Henry Schenz, infielder from the Nashville, Tenn. club, and Cliff Abern, heavy hitting rookie outfielder from the Des Moines, Ia. club. Al Walker, a promising young catcher from Nashville, also is in the rookie crop.

Hack, 37, will be retained in the official Cub family and will possibly pop up somewhere in the farm system as a manager, perhaps with Los Angeles of the Pacific coast league, also owned by Wrigley.

Claude Passeau

Stan Hack

Hack came to the Cubs in 1932 and with the exception of playing in 1933 with Albany, N. Y., has been with the Cubs since. Up to this season, Hack had a life-time batting average of .302 in the major leagues and had participated in four world series in which he batted for an aggregate of 348. Only a few weeks ago he was

BRAVES DEFEAT 'STIQUE, 26-6

Gladstone's Touchdown Trio Sparkles In Dedication Tilt

Manistique, Sept. 26.—Scoring one touchdown in each of the first two quarters and capping their drive with two counters in the third period, the Gladstone high school Braves defeated Manistique's Emeralds, 26-6, here tonight in a game which served to dedicate Manistique's new lighted field.

Fumbles set up two of Gladstone's touchdowns, with Capt. David Legault, Cliff Gillis and Kent Lessard following them up with line plunges and end runs to reach pay-off territory. This power-packed trio also was responsible for the Braves' other two counts.

Recovering Dougherty's fumble on the Manistique 37, Gladstone picked up four yards on Legault's plunge but was set back five yards on a man-in-motion penalty on the next play. Gillis and Legault then fought their way to the Manistique 2 but another Brave penalty, this time for clipping, set them to the 17. On fourth down, Legault passed to Joe Moreau, end, for a touchdown, and Gillis try for point by placekick mis-

Gladstone was threatening to score again as the final quarter ended, Manistique got the ball on downs, however, and Quick punted to the Manistique 43, where the Braves started another drive, sparked by Doug Madden, Legault and Gillis. Gillis plunged over from the four-yard line and made his placekick good to give the Braves a 13-0 lead midway in the second quarter.

The Emeralds uncorked a passing attack that brought them to the Gladstone 12 late in the first half. J. Minor, half, swept around left end for the Manistique touchdown. Quick's placekick for the extra point failed.

Gladstone recovered Quick's fumble on the Manistique 35 early in the third quarter. Lessard found a hole through the line and scampered 30 yards to the five, and Legault went over on the next play. Gillis' placekick was wide.

Later, Manistique pulled a quick kick to the Gladstone 40. Gillis carried the oval to the Manistique 26; Legault crashed through for a first down on the Emerald 10; Gillis went through center for seven more, and Lessard plunged the remaining three for the counter. Gillis converted to give Gladstone a 26-6 lead late in the third period.

Play was fairly even throughout the last quarter, with neither team presenting a serious threat, and the game ended with the ball on the Gladstone 29.

SEE COMEBACK OF WHITEFISH

Big Catches In Green Bay Expected To Continue

Madison, Wis.—The whitefish, nearly extinct in the area three years ago, is now being harvested by the Green Bay fisheries in record quantities, the Wisconsin conservation commission has learned.

During the first six months of this season, according to Matt Patterson, superintendent of commercial fishing operations for the Green Bay netters took more than 543,000 pounds from their fishing grounds. The figure was more than twice the harvest of last year. Two years earlier there were only a few of the prize fish seen in Green Bay waters, said Patterson, who makes his headquarters at Sturgeon Bay.

Prospects Are Good
Observations of fishermen and others, moreover, indicate that there is another big crop of whitefish now coming along and that prospects for the next few years are therefore good.

The whitefish is probably the most valuable of the species harvested in Wisconsin outlying waters. Fishermen have been enjoying premium prices, according to Patterson.

Wanted Time Extended
Green Bay operators this week asked the commission for an extension of their fishing privileges this fall in order to exploit the unusual run of the creatures. The season will close October 10; they wanted to fish until November.

The commission declined with the explanation that an extension of fishing time in Green Bay would bring about similar demands from Lake Michigan fishermen. To allow an extension, in Lake Michigan waters would be difficult, according to the authorities, because the trout season is closed there in the fall and fishermen might be taking trout with whitefish gear.

Young Jews Stage Palestine Holdup: Carry Off $180,000

Jerusalem, Sept. 26 (AP)—Between 20 and 30 young Jews, believed by officials to be members of the Stern gang, staged Palestine's most spectacular holdup today, killing four British policemen, wounding seven other persons in a Tel Aviv street battle and carrying off $180,000 loot in a white jeep.

Bags containing $420,000 of the total haul of $600,000 were dropped in the subsequent chase. Two of the gang were believed wounded and two suspects seized.

The raid was carried off with military precision when the striking force of four youths in the white jeep drove up to Barclay's Bank in Tel Aviv's busy Allenby Road before noon, just as the money bags were being loaded into a guarded armored car.

They then killed a British policeman in the armored car, seized the money bags in his custody and fled. Other policemen joined the battle and in the exchange of fire two policemen were killed, another critically wounded, a Jewish constable slightly injured in the hand and five passersby wounded, two seriously.

Fight For Freedom From Prison Lost By Frenchy Benoit

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 26 (AP)—A circuit court jury took only 80 minutes today to reaffirm the first degree murder conviction of 33-year-old Alcide (Frenchy) Benoit in the 1937 slaying of a state policeman.

It was the first retrial of a major criminal under the recent United States Supreme Court "quick justice" decision. Benoit contended that his constitutional rights were impaired by the speed of his sentence and the fact that he lacked an attorney.

Judge Clifford A. Bishop deferred sentencing the Marquette prison lifer until Oct. 4. However, a reaffirmation of the life sentence is mandatory.

As in his original hearing 10 years ago, Benoit was found guilty of the kidnapping and shooting of State Trooper Richard Hammond, whose body was found handcuffed to a rural mailbox near Erie, Mich.

The shooting occurred after Hammond had arrested Benoit and was driving him to the state police post at Erie.

Radioactive Plant Fertilizer Boosts Crop For Wallace

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Tomato plants treated by Henry A. Wallace with radioactive fertilizer showed a 30 percent increase in weight yield over plants grown with ordinary fertilizer, a spokesman for the former vice president said today.

Wallace conducted his experiments this year on his 112-acre farm in suburban Westchester county.

The radioactive substance constituted about one-trillionth of the total fertilizer bulk used by Wallace. The spokesman said Wallace obtained the radioactive substance from a neighboring watch factory where it is a by-product in the manufacture of radium-treated watches.

House Committee Claims Communist Eisler Is Perjurer

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—A recommendation that Hanns Eisler be prosecuted for perjury and passport fraud and deported climaxed today three days of hearings by the House Un-American Activities Committee into the German-born Hollywood composer's stay in this country.

The recommendation to the Justice Department was made unanimously by four committee members who heard the Eisler case as a subcommittee. They are Representatives Thomas (R-NJ), chairman; Mc Dowell (R-Pa.), Rankin (D-Miss) and Wood (D-Ga.).

Eisler, who wrote the music for "The Communist March", acknowledged during the hearings that he joined the Communist party in the 20's, but said he was never active and soon dropped out. When he was admitted to permanent residence in the United States in 1940 he swore he was not a Communist.

Governor Appoints
Marquette Official
On Economic Agency
Lansing, Sept. 26 (AP)—Governor Siler today appointed R. W. Jenner of Marquette to the Michigan economic development commission to complete the membership roster in preparation for its first meeting Oct. 6.

Vice-president of the Cliff-Dow Chemical company, Jenner will fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Robert A. Burns, Wakefield attorney.

The 12-member commission will take over and expand the functions of the defunct state planning commission.

BUSINESS LOANS ARE INCREASING

Commercial, Industrial And Agricultural Activity Rises

By CHARLES MOLONY
Washington — Bank loans to business, after a summer-time pause in their long postwar climb, are showing a spurt in volume roughly paralleling the new inflationary upswing.

Since early August, when new price increases began making headlines, these loans by Federal Reserve member banks in the nation's leading cities have been mounting at an average of more than $125,000,000 a week.

The result is a record amount in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans outstanding at these banks, accompanied by records in urban real estate loans and consumer loans that officials say extend to the country's banks in general.

More Expansion Outlook
The outlook, according to some government banking analysts, is for continuance of the postwar expansion in all these lending fields for some time.

Part of the spurt since August is rated a seasonal upturn from the customary summer quiet. Part is attributed to increased prices or costs.

At the base is what the analysts call a "still strong business demand" for financing to expand plants and increase capacity, to build up inventories and to carry the credit extended to customers.

Why Prices Figure In
Price increases boost the loan total because they up the cost of expansion, increase the cost of inventory purchases and lift the customer-credit total.

Also, say the analysts, they tempt speculation based on hope of profits from further price increases.

The record business loan volume—over $12,700,000,000 at the Federal Reserve member banks in principal cities, which account for about three-fourths of the all-bank total—is not considered by these analysts to be any "danger sign" by itself.

On the "inflationary factor" in a "perturbing inflationary picture" when weighed in with heavy consumer spending and foreign buying in this country. However, the loan volume standing alone was termed "rather sound."

The Summer Slump
The volume at the leading city banks, in contrast to the more than $100,000,000 a week rise since the start of August, declined through May, June and mid-July. Although an upturn began in mid-July, volume was $76,000 lower at the end of July than at the end of April.

Lending by banks outside of those cities and not members of the Federal Reserve System is said to be following the same trend.

Reports to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, whose 13,391 insured institutions comprise over 90 per cent of all banks, shot up $4,432,172,000 in the 12 months ending June 30. The total was $14,768,345,000 at the end of that period.

Only $749,354,000 of that increase was rolled up in the first half of 1947, however, showing a marked slackening in the rapid rate of growth that reflected the early stages of postwar expansion in civilian business and industry.

Unions Open Food Stores In Chicago: Sellout Is Speedy

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—The CIO ventured into the grocery business today as a "protest" of the high cost of living and quickly sold out several truckloads of foodstuffs.

Two sales, sponsored by the Chicago Industrial Union Council (CIO), were held in halls near industrial areas. Long lines of housewives quickly emptied shelves that included items at these prices:

Butter, 74 cents lb; bacon, 72 cents lb; eggs, 65c doz.

Michael Mann, regional CIO director, said the sale was "no solution" to current prices of food but merely a "protest."

"But we will continue these demonstrations until prices break," Mann said, adding that "anyone can buy at these demonstrations."

Union members, volunteering as baby sitters while mothers stocked up, added a service touch.

International Golf Show Starts Today At Tam O' Shanter

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—Professional golf meets a fancy seasonal demise in the midwest tomorrow and Sunday with George S. May's "Straight Eight" show, the $5,000 winner-take-all international tourney at Tam O' Shanter course.

Promoter May actually is dishing out $21,000 in his 36-hole, stroke-play carnival, because he has pledged $2,000 appearance money each to these title-holding stars:

Bobby Locke, All-American tourney champion; Sam Snead, defending international titlist; Ben Hogan, Chicago Victory National winner; P. G. A. Champion Jim Ferrier; National Open Champion Lew Worsham; Jimmy Demaret, Augusta Masters' winner; Johnny Palmer, wearer of the Western Open crown; and South American Champion Lloyd Mangrum.

Locke is expected to pick up at Tam O' Shanter where he left off in trimming Ed Oliver for the $7,000 All-American pot in a playoff last July. The South African sharp-shooter, who banged a three-under-par 69 in a tune-up yesterday, will conclude his American tour with this appearance which is the best news U. S. pros have heard all summer.

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

Aldous Huxley once wrote a rather famous essay that he called "The Vulgarities of Edgar Allan Poe." By the word "vulgarity" Huxley did not mean smut; he meant that Poe was cheaply flashy. We call a newly-rich person vulgar who wears too many diamonds, or diamonds that are too large. Poe was vulgar to the fastidious British novelist because he used words and phrases that, in Huxley's opinion, were flashy and were used only for effect, not to convey meaning.

Quite recently I have been re-reading some of the earlier novels of Aldous Huxley, and all I can say is that an essay with the title, "The Vulgarities of Aldous Huxley" would not be out of place. In Huxley's case the word "vulgarity" might be used to signify smut, but I am not going into that; I am using the word in exactly the same sense that he gave to it in his essay on Poe. The young Aldous Huxley was flashing his literary diamonds to show off; he seemed to be saying on nearly every page, "Look how brilliant I am!"

It is only fair to add that Aldous Huxley has matured since writing such early novels as "Antic Hay," "Chrome Yellow," and "Point Counterpoint." In some of his later books he comes much nearer to being a sincere artist who is more interested in getting the meaning of life down on the page than to flash and scintillate to make the eyes of the intelligent pop.

He is a writer of great power, but so was Edgar Allan Poe, by Huxley's own confession. He did not deny Poe's poetical gifts but asserted that the author of "The Raven" and "The Bells" and "Ulalume" was vulgar. It is not necessary to deny that the author of "Antic Hay" has power; but he was unquestionably vulgar.

"Antic Hay" is as good an illustration of the Aldous Huxley vulgarity as any. Aldous Huxley is a writer who knows a great deal about a great many things, and he apparently knows them all with almost scientific accuracy. Not only are his verbal pyrotechnics often astonishing, the factual material he gets down on the page is evidence of a learning that may justly be called encyclopedic.

The trouble is that in his early novels at least, he is so proud of his knowledge that he forces it upon his readers, often interrupting the story to do so. He evidently, even as a young man,
